Bankler Partners Appoints Principal Jamey Sepulveda

SAN ANTONIO, Texas—Bankler Partners announces that Jamey Sepulveda, CPA, has joined the firm's leadership team as Principal. Sepulveda, who had previously served as a CPA for the firm, returned to Bankler Partners on September 1, 2026, bringing more than 16 years of combined experience in public accounting and private industry.

In her new role, Sepulveda will help lead the firm's tax practice and support its continued growth and success. She will work closely with clients and colleagues to deliver the high level of service, technical excellence, and responsiveness that define the firm. Her responsibilities will include tax review and quality control initiatives, as well as support for firm operations and strategic planning. She is also passionate about developing the next generation of professionals through staff development, mentoring, and training initiatives—an emphasis that reflects the firm's broader investment in its people.

"I'm excited to rejoin Bankler Partners in this leadership role," said Sepulveda. "Bankler Partners has an outstanding reputation for excellence, and I look forward to working alongside our talented professionals to continue that tradition, delivering the high-quality service our clients have come to expect."

Bankler Partners' Founding Partner, Steven Bankler, CPA, started the firm in 1977 and continues to guide the strategic direction. The firm has grown steadily in recent years and currently employs 14 CPAs and four administrative team members. Sepulveda's appointment follows the retirement of Managing Partner Gina Valorz, whose leadership helped shape the firm's operations and commitment to client service.
